the intent of this chapter is to outline a distinctive way of thinking about issues of technology and society that has characterized many nordic approaches to the topic one of the characteristics of this approach has been the recognition of the worth of human labour technology is not seen as an alien force but something which is itself a product of human labour and it can be designed and utilized in ways which augment human skills and expertise rather than degrading them what is particularly striking at least to this author in this approach is that we are presented not simply with a vision of how things could be better in our society but with concrete exemplars of how we can build such a better world it is in recognition of this fact that i have chosen the title of this chapter as it emphasizes that while the tradition of utopian literature is the lineation of a supposedly idea world which exists no place u topos in greek these visions can be an inspiration for quite practical activities on the ground as steps towards their realization as wilde notes in the quote above this is a never ending quest as with each achievement we recognize that there are further bridges to cross and places to be visited
